As a summer resort Stamford's history dates back to the time when Delaware Academy was one of the most noted boarding schools in New York State, because of the healthful surroundings found in the town. In the days when students spent the entire year here Dr. S. E. Churchill was probably the pioneer in the effort to make this village one of the most popular resorts in the State, and Churchill Hail and the Hamilton House became the summer. Hamilton House became the summer homes of many prominent people, and as the building of the railroad to Stamof New York, its growth was rapid
